AUTOMATED FLEET FUELING SYSTEM

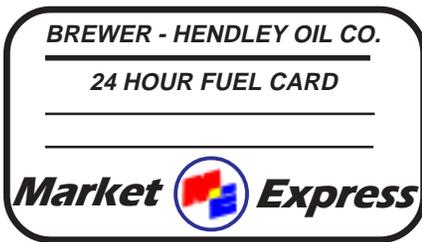

EXXON

If you're a commercial fleet operator, you know that vehicle fueling is a considerable expense for your company. It's also an area where costs are often unmanaged. We can't eliminate that expense for you - but we can assure you of competitive pricing and tighter control, through the most comprehensive fleet fueling system available. Whether you operate a small or large number of vehicles, our system is designed to save you time and money.

CONVENIENCE

We'll issue fuel cards to your company to be used by your drivers. Cards may identify specific vehicles, specific drivers, or both. It's your choice. Your drivers will then have access to any of our conveniently-located sites, 24 hours a day and seven days a week.

Drivers simply insert their card into the card reader on the pump, enter their pin number and vehicle odometer reading, and then begin fueling. After dispensing fuel, drivers will receive a receipt and continue on their way - no standing in line or waiting for service. If preferred, you can also have your fuel sale processed inside the store.

The entire transaction is accurately recorded and reported back to you.

CONTROL

Unauthorized purchases are virtually eliminated with our system. As a fleet owner, you may specify fuel type and volume for each vehicle. Fuel is accessible only by authorized personnel and only after specific information is provided. Our system also eliminates the need to issue cash or multiple payments.

Every month, we'll send you an account of fuel purchases by vehicle, showing driver, location, time and date, fuel type, cost, odometer reading and more. Every transaction from every fuel site is accurately recorded and compiled into easy-to-read reports.

Why waste valuable in-house accounting time? Evaluating fleet performance will become a much easier task for you and your staff. No other system offers greater control.

COST REDUCTION

By utilizing our fueling system, you'll save money in several ways. If you currently operate company-owned tanks, you're faced with costly inventory and possible EPA storage liability. Unauthorized use is also a potential problem. And as previously mentioned, in-house accounting time and staff requirements are reduced.

CUSTOMER SATISFACTION

More and more commercial fleet operators are realizing the benefits of a computerized fueling service:

- 24-hour availability at convenient locations
- Virtually no unauthorized purchases
- Cashless transactions
- Detailed management reports
- Reduced in-house accounting time

Call today and become a satisfied customer of the most advanced commercial fleet service available!
